

BROKEN ARROW PUBLIC SCHOOLS

COMMUNITY EDUCATION

SPRING 2012 ADULT EDUCATION CLASSES

a note from THE SUPERINTENDENT

At Broken Arrow Public Schools, we teach our students to be life-long learners. As adults, I believe that we should model that behavior for our children and teenagers and always seize the opportunity to learn something new. Regardless of our career, life experiences, or age, we should never stop learning.

If you are a life-long learner, the Broken Arrow Public Schools Community Education Program has a variety of opportunities for you. From discovering your inner dancer, to finding out how to reduce debt and plan a better financial future, there is no shortage of classes offered in this year's catalog.

As you look through these pages, I hope you will find a class, or maybe two, that will offer you an opportunity for personal growth. And don't forget about the ones looking up to you – encourage your children and grandchildren to join you in learning new skills. Show them the importance of life-long learning, and to do that, you need look no further than the Broken Arrow Public Schools Community Education Program.

Respectfully,

Dr. Jarod Mendenhall
Superintendent of Broken Arrow Public Schools
